REVUELTO
J. W. Corn of Tucumcari, visited us Sunday in his new auto.
R. I. Upchurch was here Sunday.
H. E. Holliday and T. Carden visited us Monday.

We have the sad news from Zaladita that Mrs. Nicolao M. Vigil, wife of Apolinario Vigil died Sunday morning after three years of sickness of paralysis. We wish to join the friends of the family in extending sympathy in this sad hour of bereavement.

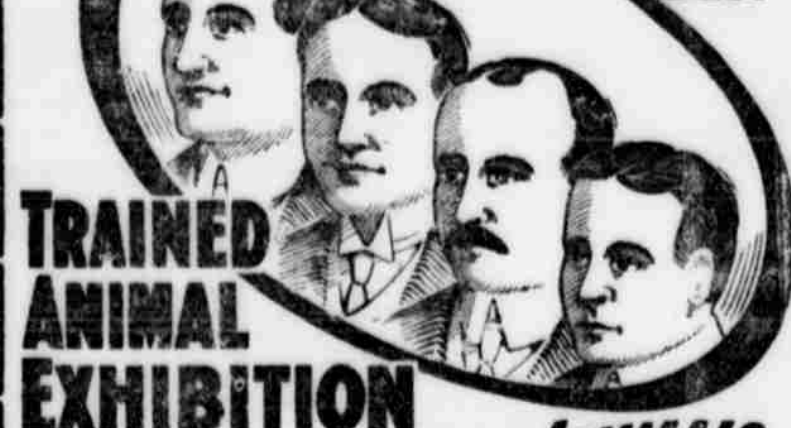

Silvano Baca stopped at Revuelto Wednesday while on his way home to Endee.

Florencio S. Martinez, Jr., and Julian Bles left Wednesday to camp with the cattle 20 miles northeast of Revuelto, on account of being short of water here.

Mr. and Mrs. Holliday visited us Thursday.

Mrs. Pablo Bles has been very busy this week with her new patterns of needle work. She was so anxious to start again. She quit for the last two years on account of weak eyes and the doctor gave her the advice of not to do any kind of needlework. She is very fond and capable for all kinds of work.

Trumbull will occur on one of the Saturdays in May, when the school-house will be available. Date to be published soon.

Easter exercises will be rendered by the two Sunday schools of Mountain View and Hudson at the Hudson school house on next Sunday at three o'clock, Central, or fast time. The invitation is to all.

Frank Esquibel was in our village last Wednesday, being here from Logan as a business caller representing the local mercantile company.

Three immense cars of bear grass were shipped from this station during the past week by W. T. York, Emil G. and George Flint, respectively. Each car contained about fifteen tons.

S. D. Wirt is still wrestling with the pump proposition on his farm. The missing pipe was located during the week, having disengaged itself from that overhead. With considerable difficulty a chain was finally successfully looped above the joint, and drawing by horse-power was begun. When part of the way out, the chain broke, allowing the pipe to drop to the bottom of the well again. After long effort, the task was successfully completed, but as yet the windmill is not in working order.

Mrs. Nora Judd is rapidly failing in health and the gravest apprehensions are entertained for her recovery.

By real estate transfer the Eddy Deputy place has passed into the hands of his brother Hudson.

G. E. Rice spent two days here last week with his family, being off duty with the E. P. & S. W. at Tucumcari on leave of absence.

Our farmers are obtaining their fertilizer seed from J. R. Wasson. This is a trial crop with us, none having been raised previously in this vicinity.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank my friends who gave me their support in the piano contest, as given by the News, and take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the valuable present which I received from the Elk Drug Co., and I heartily thank them for the same.
Yours truly,
Frances E. Poppino.

DROUTH BROKEN AT ROSWELL
The drouth was pretty badly cracked Wednesday afternoon south of Roswell. Though the first storm of spring was an April blizzard from Dexter south to Calhoun, there were big rains. At Dexter the biggest fall is reported. This shower reached heaviest proportions near the Avis place, a mile south and a mile and a half west of Dexter. At Lake Arthur a heavy hail fell.

BROOKLYN
BIBLE STUDY ON

"JESUS HIMSELF DREW NEAR."
Luke 24:13-35—April 12.
"It is Christ that died, you rather, that was raised from the dead."—Romans 8:34.

TODAY we study one of Jesus' most striking manifestations to His disciples after His resurrection. Early that morning He had appeared to the women who came to embalm His body. They had communicated the news to St. Peter and St. John, who hastened to the sepulcher, but found it empty. The disciples were perplexed. Although Jesus had told them that He would be crucified and would rise from the dead on the third day, they had not comprehended the teaching.

That afternoon, as two of the company were walking home, discussing their disappointment, Jesus overtook them. They knew Him not, because of His resurrection change. St. Peter tells us that He was "put to death in flesh, but quickened in spirit." This we understand in the light of St. Paul's explanation of the Church's resurrection: "Sown in weakness, raised in power; sown in dishonor, raised in glory; sown an animal body, raised a spirit body."—1 Corinthians 15:42-44.

The same thought is impressed again by the Apostle's statement: "We shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye"; for "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God." The change which the Church is to experience is the same which Jesus experienced when He was raised from the dead, a life-giving Spirit—no longer a Man.

Our Lord's title, "Son of Man," still belongs to Him, as does the title, "The Logos." When the Logos was made flesh, the identity was preserved; and likewise when Jesus became a spirit being again. Respecting our Lord's human experiences we read: "A body hast Thou prepared Me" for the suffering of death (Hebrews 10:3-10). When He had accomplished that purpose, He no longer had need of human nature; but, as He had foretold, He ascended to where He was before—to the spirit nature and, later on, to Heaven itself.

To assume that Jesus is a fleshly being in Heaven, bearing wounds and scars to all eternity, is to imply that the Father never really exalted Him to the glory which He had before the world was (John 17:5), and is unsupportable. The Scriptures plainly show that the Father highly exalted our Redeemer "far above angels, principalities and powers."

"Jesus Showed Himself."
St. Luke declares that Jesus showed Himself alive after His resurrection (Acts 1:3). In every way He manifested the fact that a great change had taken place with Him. He appeared and showed Himself not only in different bodies, unlike each other, but also in different clothing. When He suddenly disappeared, the clothing disappeared also.

The stranger who overtook the two disciples en route to Emmaus inquired, "Why so sad?" Astonished that He did not know, they explained that the chief priests and rulers had delivered up and crucified Jesus, a prophet mighty before God and the people. Their hope that He was Messiah had been crushed. Then they told the events of that very morning that some women of their company had found His tomb empty and had seen angels, who said that He was alive.

This gave Jesus opportunity to explain quietly that their experiences were part of the Divine Plan; that it was necessary that Messiah should thus suffer, in order to become King of Glory and bless mankind. He pointed out from Scripture what God had foretold respecting Messiah's experiences. He probably showed that when Isaac was offered up by Abraham, he foreshadowed Jesus' death and resurrection; that the smitten rock represented Messiah who must be smitten in order to give the Water of Life to humanity; that the serpent lifted up in the wilderness typified Messiah's crucifixion; and that the passover lamb typified Jesus, "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." No wonder their hearts burned within them!

"They Knew Him—He Vanished."
When the travelers arrived in Emmaus, something in their guest's manner of asking the blessing at supper reminded them of Jesus. Their eyes of understanding began to open. Then, having fulfilled the purpose of His materialization, Jesus vanished—clothes and all.

Unable to sleep, the disciples returned to Jerusalem, and there learned that Jesus had manifested Himself to Peter. Then they told their experiences, and faith, hope and joy began to grow in all their hearts.

During the forty days following our Lord's resurrection, He only twice appeared in a form similar to that which they had seen, bearing the marks of crucifixion. On both occasions He appeared and vanished while the doors were shut.

Mrs. Henry Witholder went to El Paso Wednesday.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish have returned home from a trip to El Paso.
Mrs. Lee Snyder spent last week visiting friends in El Paso, returning home Friday on No. 8.
Conductor F. S. Deal has taken a passenger run on the Dawson. He has been on the Main line out of El Paso.
Conductor Dan Harris is back on No. 123 and No. 124, Dawson line, after several months on Main line passenger runs.
Mr. Pearson, general storekeeper of the E. P. & S. W., was here from El Paso several days last week on business connected with that department.
D. W. King and Oscar Benton returned last Wednesday from Amarillo, driving over in their new cars, King in a Chalmers and Benton in an Overland. While they did not break any speed records from their reports the trip was not in the least monotonous. King says some people have trouble in starting their cars but the only thing that is bothersome to him is in stopping.
Robert Lipscomb stopped over in Tucumcari last Friday on his way from Los Angeles to Pratt, his first visit to this place in seven years. Not many of his old friends remembered him as he was a boy in knee pants when he left but all the old timers will remember his mother, Mrs. Olive Lipscomb, who was manager of the Rock Island Eating House for a number of years in the early days. They are now living in Los Angeles.
The Connor's drove back from Oklahoma and landed on their claim near Solano last week. They have proved up and like to get away from the claim occasionally but they are always glad to get back.—Roy Spanish-American.
